C.N.R. ACHIEVES

WONDERFUL ROAD

AMAZING FEATS

Causesway of Rock Across Arm of Rainy Lake Nearly Completed.

FEW REALIZE ENORMITY OF ENGINEERING TASKS

Impossible a Word! Its Engineers are Endeavoring to Make Obsolete.

The milestones of progress in Canada are bedded deep in the spectacular engineering achievement of its building railways. In this land of lakes, rivers, trails of transportation, and in every case where the genius of the constructive engineer has triumphed over the obstacles of nature, commerce has experienced an acceleration marked enough to attract wide attention. Every one is familiar with the great works of the older roads, but recently, little has been heard of the conquests of the Canadian Northern in this department of railway building. That virtue, progressive road which is rapidly attaining the status of a transcontinental by the linking together of its separate clusters of lines, has many remarkable monuments to the outstanding ability of its builders. Within the next few years it will have added to these its tunnel and terminal in Montreal, its tunnel and terminal in Vancouver, and it will also have succeeded in stretching a great oiled causesway of granite across Rainy lake, about midway between Port Arthur and Winnipeg.

These and a quarter miles of drilling are involved in the cutting of the tunnel through historic Mt. Royal in Montreal; from three to four miles will probably be necessary for the entrance to the terminals in Vancouver; this roadway across Rainy lake will be about three miles long and will be very close to one million dollars a mile. In this country the railways have developed the habit of proceeding with great constructive projects without consulting the public to the significance of the work. There is no departure in this case. The Canadian Northern have been engaged upon this project for nearly three years and so quietly has the task been conducted that very few people in Canada today are even aware that anything out of the ordinary is occurring there. Yet so much progress has been made that the company looks forward to its completion, indeed, it is even hinted that the heavy visit trains from the west will fall roll smoothly over the solid length on their way to the waiting freighters at the head of Great Lakes navigation. While this is hardly probable owing to the nature of the difficulties still to be met, it is so far advanced as to be an important factor in transportation in Canada in the near future.

The Canadian Northern railway came into existence just when the tide of immigration from other countries began to be deflected Canadianward. It came into the national life because of the compulsion of the need of additional transportation facilities. If Canada's expanding progress was to continue many new lines had to be built, especially in Western Canada. The nation's need, and calls, were answered by two men, builders of railways, who seemed a dominant character and laid down their line of steel some 100 miles of new, sparsely settled land in Manitoba. That line was completed about Christmas time in 1898 and was awarded successfully. It connected the village of Daifone with a settlement, now the thriving town of Daifone. The line continued to increase rather than diminish, and, in response the lines of the new company began to meet their way out over the new country that had been selected for the founding of homes by the newcomers. That was less than 17 years ago. Today the 100 miles has grown into nearly 7,000, has spread over six provinces, and will shortly graduate into the transcontinental class with terminals at both Atlantic and Pacific tide-water. In the beginning the road was constructed to development and the yards have been laid out to this day. The line has been extended, and in response, the lines of steel resistance and parallel existing lines. The policy was to avoid the road wanted to give transportation where its business had been badly lacking before. It sought to give a new territory and then started in to increase that particular district's population and prosperity.

New Outlet to Lakes
At the beginning of this century the development of the western provinces necessitated a new outlet to lake navigation. The Canadian Northern set itself to the task and in 1901 commenced in progress the construction of a line to connect Winnipeg and Port Arthur. Conditions compelled rapid construction. The company decided that the company sought a route for its line to the south and finally decided to tap the transcontinental line at Daifone and Mattawan, and then started in to increase that particular district's population and prosperity.

TODAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS.

1898—Jim Corbett and Kid McCoy fought in the first round for a purse of $20,000 at the Hawthorne hotel, near Buffalo, on this date, but the bout was called off owing to public protest. No bout of championship ship could ever attract so much attention as that proposed for Corbett and McCoy; admittedly the two cleverest men in the biff business. A Catholic bishop led the crusade against the fight, and aroused public opinion to so high a pitch that the fight was forbidden, not only by the governor of New York, but by the executives of other states. Two years later Corbett and the Kid met in New York City, and "Gentleman Jim" knocked out the Hoosier in the fifth round.

She refused to be taken out until the officers finally succeeded in ejecting her.

VETERAN ALTROCK, 37 TODAY.

STAR COMEDIAN OF BASEBALL.

Nicholas Altrock, the veteran pitcher whose diamond career has extended from Bush to majors and back again, from Toronto to Los Angeles and points north, south, east and west, will pass his 37th milestone today. Nick is the star comedian of the game, and the funny stuff he pulls off in the same city as ex-President Taft, but that his birthday falls on the same day. The great southpaw began hurling for Grand Rapids in the Interstate league in 1898, and later in the same year went to the Louisville Nationals. He was sent back to the minors in 1899, playing with Grand Rapids and Geyser. In 1900 he pitched for Stratus, in the Eastern; and in 1901 was sent to Toronto. After the close of the 1903 season he went to the Coast and played with Los Angeles in the West league. The season of 1905 found Nick in a Milwaukee uniform. He had his second chance with the other players, realizing his natural ability, began to prime him with miscellaneous and confusing misinformation. Joe absorbed so much advice that he was all skunked over with the pale cast of thought. It was at this juncture that Nick became his sole teacher, and under that able pedagogy Boehling immediately began to improve. Nick was born in Cincinnati, Sept. 15, 1876, and he is proud of the fact that he was not only born in the same city as ex-President Taft, but that his

EXTREMELY LONG DOCKET APPEARS IN POLICE COURT

Court Takes a Short Afternoon Recess Because of Number of Cases.

BACK IN TOWN FOUR HOURS, UNDER ARREST

Inspector Raven Does Not Take Same View of Case as Defendant—Prisoner Fined for Wrong Driving.

An unusually heavy docket was opened in court this morning at 1:30 the court ordered a recess for 20 minutes. Fred Cox, charged with being a hater out of work, and formerly being a solicitor for an evening paper was arrested on a charge of being a hater out of work. Cox was arrested several weeks ago and had his case dismissed. He left the court and went to Calgary but could obtain no work there, and came back to Edmonton. He was only back in town four hours when he was arrested on a similar charge.

Inspector Raven does not take the same view of the case as the defendant. He says that he was not a vagrant as the charge stated, and that he was receiving money from out of town when he needed it. Inspector Raven, however, took a different view of the case, and remanded Cox for another Wednesday morning.

Case is Remanded.
The case of Thomas J. Langworth, charged with the theft of $45, was remanded until Thursday upon motion of the crown in order to make restitution out of the court. Bail was fixed at $200.

Saskatoon, Sask., Sept. 15.—Steps to bring about the adoption of a new system of keeping a tab on the finances of each city and municipality in the province, the same system as is in use in the city of Saskatoon, were explained by Mayor Sanford Evans of Winnipeg and Commissioner Yonah, of Saskatoon, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Municipalities held here in July, which will be recommended to council tonight by the city commissioners.

FAVOR GOING ON WITH NEW MARKET BUILDING

Committee Will Recommend to Council that Architect Be Instructed to Prepare the Specifications.

A meeting of the market committee held in the council chamber this morning to recommend the committee decided to recommend to council tomorrow night that the architect be instructed to prepare the specifications for the new market building.

The committee will also recommend that the committee be authorized to order tenders for the construction of the new market building as soon as the specifications have been completed, and that the tenders be forwarded to the market committee as soon as they have been received.

It is not the intention of the committee to build the administrative building at the new market building, at this time, as this will be either two or three stories in height, depending upon the demand for space.

At the present time only the main portion of the market building will be undertaken. This is to be a one-story building with an overhanging roof on the side, where vendors may park their cars, and be protected from the elements.

The work on this section of the new market building will be pushed along as speedily as possible so that it may be well under way before the October session of the council. Those in attendance at the meeting this morning were Mayor Short, Aldermen East, Livingston and Calder.

BROTHER AND SISTER MADE GROSSOME FIND

THREE HUNDRED MEXICAN REBELS DEAD IN BATTLE

Concepcion Del Rio, where some American soldiers, has been named for several months, is about to be relieved by General Penabaz, who is proceeding southward from Saltillo.

Agus Calles, which has been reported to have been taken by the rebels, is said to be sufficiently garrisoned to insure its safety.

Topolampo, a seaport of Sinaloa, is reported to have been taken by the rebels, assisted by the gumbat, Tamul.

Arrivals here confirm the growth of the rebel movement in Sinaloa, where Mariano Arriaga, with several hundred men, is preparing for an attack on Culiacan, capital of the state.

Rebels Take Americans.
One hundred Americans, including a number of women and children, reported from Torreon, are said to have fallen into the hands of the rebels while proceeding overland to Saltillo. The authorities at Saltillo desire to take the Americans into custody, and are sending a force to their rescue, fearing, they say, that the rebels might commit atrocities upon the refugees which would possibly otherwise be avoided.

The report comes from a reliable source at Saltillo, but has not been confirmed. The American minister, who has been advised and has called upon the Mexican foreign office to investigate the matter and take the necessary steps to release the Americans.

Senior Dambos, the foreign minister, has had no advice from the communication from the embassy. He expressed regret that he was not more than might be expected as the result of the "neutrality policy" which the administration is proceeding with a strong hand against rebels and bandits.

British Minister Due.
Vera Cruz, Sept. 15.—The recently appointed British minister to Mexico, General Sir G. Clayton, is expected here today. Preparations are being made to receive him in a markedly sympathetic manner.

Career of the Girl.
Little is known of the history of Anna Ammiller, before she took employment in the St. Boniface parish house the week before Christmas, 1912. According to Father Braun, she left his parish house in the summer of 1911, returning on Thanksgiving day, 1912, and was married in August 20 last. "All I know about her," he said, "is that she came to this country from Germany about two and a half years ago. I understood she was an orphan and I have a dim recollection that she may possibly have come here through an advertisement that I placed in a newspaper for a girl. While she had no credentials, I employed her."

Despite her statement to another maid employed in the rectory that she was leaving to be married, Father Braun said last night that he was forced to discharge her two weeks ago, when her mode of living was unsatisfactory.

The girl, as nearly as could be learned, was 31 years old.

Another Crime Recalled.
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—During the period of the Rev. Hans Schmidt's life in Louisville this city was started by the murder of eight-year-old Anna Keller, whose body was found in a ditch near the basement of St. John's Catholic church nearly five months after her mysterious disappearance.

A fully colored pillow, an unusual pattern led to Schmidt's apprehension. This pillow, stained with blood and soaked with the filth of the river, was found around a portion of the torso. The detectives traced the pillow to its manufacturer who traced it to the room that Schmidt had rented in the city.

Schmidt, when arrested was dressed in full clerical garb at 43 west 125th street. The detective produced a photograph of his church at 43 west 125th street. The detective produced a photograph of his church at 43 west 125th street.

Alberta Legislators Discover They Knew Each Other Years Ago in East

Mr. McNaughton Does Not Recognize His Fellow Lawmaker Because in the Old Glenagary Days Mr. McColl Was Then Just Red-haired, Freckled-faced Johnny McColl.

A tall, sandy-complexioned man of the type of prosperous farmer common to Alberta in these piping times, approached James McNaughton, M.P., from Little Bow, in the Cecil hotel lobby this morning and exclaimed: "You are the fellow I met in the old Glenagary days."

"How are you, Mr. McNaughton?" he said. "Do you remember me?"

Mr. McNaughton stared hard, looked down at his feet, and scratched his head and then stared again.

"Well, you've got me," he was finally forced to admit with the charm of his friendly smile. "I was a young man when I met you in the old Glenagary days."

"Well, I didn't think you would as it has been 28 years since you and I saw each other last," said the stranger. "My name is McColl. John A. McColl, from Coltonville. I used to know you in the old Glenagary days. I was only 10 years old when I left Glenagary so it's no wonder you did not recognize me, but I knew you the minute I saw you."

By this time Mr. McNaughton had placed his hand on the other's shoulder and they were engaged in a friendly conversation.

"Why, when I saw you last," said McNaughton, "you were just a little red-haired, freckled-faced country kid about so high. You've grown some. What are you doing now, Johnny?"

"Well, I'm farming down in the Acadia district, but I'm not in here to represent the Acadia people in the legislature."

"What! You a member of the legislature? Well, you won't hear that name in the legislature. 'Little did I think the last time I saw you that the next time we met it would be as fellow-legislators in the Alberta legislature.'"

And then they strolled off to a corner in the lobby and down to a corner old café on the Glenagary past and the Alberta present.

REGINA CARRIES AWAY HONORS IN PROVINCIAL MEET

Saskatchewan Amateur Track Meet held at Saskatoon Saturday.

HAMMOND OF REGINA FIRST IN FIVE EVENTS

Runs 100 Yards in Ten Flat and Defeats Ex-Champion in Running, Broad Jump by Clearing 22 Feet.

Saskatoon, Sept. 15.—The first provincial amateur athletic championship meet ever held in Saskatchewan was pulled off on Saturday afternoon and was a really creditable affair. The program was carried out without a hitch until a shower in the evening made the track so heavy that it was found necessary to postpone the inter-city relay and the 10 mile circle races.

While the visiting athletes from Regina took a number of medals, Hammond also winning five first prizes, the local Y.M.C.A. boys made creditable showings in most of the events.

R. A. Hammond, of the Regina A.A., won first prizes in the 100 yards flat, running high jump, pole vault, running broad jump and 220 yards hurdles. In the running broad jump he was over G. D. Bricker, of Regina, who has held the Canadian record.

The results:

100 yards dash—Hammond, Regina; 1. Murphy, Regina; 2. Hays, Saskatoon; 3. Time—10 seconds flat.

220 yards—Hammond, Regina; 1. Forsythe, Regina; 2. Probyn, Regina; 3. Time—2:06.1-3.

Running high jump—Hammond, Regina; 1. Bell, Saskatoon; 2. Dimock, Saskatoon; 3. Distance—5 feet 2 1/4 inches.

16-pound shot put—Holt, Saskatoon; 1. Bricker, Regina; 2. Dimock, Regina; 3. Time—22.5 seconds.

500 yards dash—Chandler, Saskatoon; 1. Hammond, Regina; 2. Dunbar, Regina; 3. Time—2:25.4-5.

Five mile run—Dimock, Saskatoon; 1. Stammers, Regina; 2. Campbell, Saskatoon; 3. Time—25.4-5.

Throwing discus—Forsythe, Regina; 1. Chandler, Saskatoon; 2. Thorsville, Winnipeg; 3. Distance—101 feet 1 inch.

120 yards, high hurdles—Bricker, Regina; 1. Holt, Regina; 2. Bell, Saskatoon; 3. Time—20.5 seconds flat.

Running broad jump—Hammond, Regina; 1. Bricker, Regina; 2. Kinnaird, Saskatoon; 3. Distance—22 feet 1 inch.

110 yards, low hurdles—Hammond, Regina; 1. Bell, Saskatoon; 2. Chandler, Saskatoon; 3. Time—30.5 seconds flat.

16-pound hammer throwing—Thorsville, Winnipeg; 1. Forsythe, Regina; 2. Hays, Saskatoon; 3. Distance—81 feet 3 1/2 inches.

PEERLESS LEADER WOULD LENGTHEN WORLD'S SERIES

Need More Games to Decide Fairly Which Club is Really Best.

WOULD HAVE ALL TEAMS PLAY WORLD'S SERIES

Barney Dreyfuss and August Herrmann have repeatedly tried to interest their colleagues in a scheme that might prove a salvation if the majors are not afraid to try it. The idea is to shorten the schedules in each major league to 112 games. The winners of these competitions would be awarded the regular league pennants. Then would come a world's series in the best of seven games.

Have Every Club Participate.

Barney Dreyfuss and August Herrmann have repeatedly tried to interest their colleagues in a scheme that might prove a salvation if the majors are not afraid to try it. The idea is to shorten the schedules in each major league to 112 games. The winners of these competitions would be awarded the regular league pennants. Then would come a world's series in the best of seven games. As such it would reap the benefits of the greatest portion of a percentage of the gate money set aside from each game for a pool. But every club would profit financially as well as every player, for the pool money would be divided according to the standing of the clubs. The winners would get as much if not more than they now receive. The tailenders would get less share, too. There would be every incentive for a spirited competition beside a renewal of hope for the disappointments of the regular campaign.

There are many advantages to this, but two distinct drawbacks. The principal hitch is that a combination of baseball interests might destroy public confidence in the game. The fans might look upon the idea as syndicate. The other is that it would result in a very lengthy schedule—one that could not possibly be played under 168 games. Bad weather might interfere before the world's series competition had been concluded.

Combine Two Ideas.

If Chance's best idea were properly incorporated, it might embody some of the advantages of the plan just described, at the same time eliminating all the objectionable features. Those clubs denied participation in the classic now constituted minor league would be declared in upon a portion of the spoils.

Supposing the world's series schedule should be expanded to 15 games. Supposing the first six of those were played in the cities directly interested. That would leave nine games to be played elsewhere. And as there are 114 cities in the two big leagues, the nine remaining games might be awarded one to each of the remaining towns. Certainly such a move would give fandom in general a greater opportunity of seeing the big struggle. As each city would undoubtedly fill its park, the receipts for the 15 games would be tremendous. As an incentive toward participation in the only city, a portion of the receipts at each of those might be set aside as a sort of bonus for the players of that town. In the big cities where both leagues are represented matters might easily be arranged so that the pool for the local players would be increased to double the proportion of those in the smaller towns where only one club

INDIAN FOOTBALL HERO NOW CHIEF OF TRIBE.

(E. L. Rodgers, and his wife and children.)

Red Deer is a product of Carleton Indian school and was graduated from the law school of the University of Minnesota in 1901. During his career at Carleton and Minnesota he won fame throughout the country as a marvel on the football gridiron, and captained the Minnesota eleven in 1900. Rodgers chose for a wife a Minnesota co-ed and his is a strong man, one who could meet the whites without fear or favor and hold his own. Their choice fell upon Edward L. Rodgers, a member of the White Earth Band of the Chippewas.

Walter Munn, Sept. 15.—One of the objects of the recent convention of the Chippewas Indians located in the State of Minnesota was to elect a head chief of their new organization. They wanted a strong man, one who could meet the whites without fear or favor and hold his own. Their choice fell upon Edward L. Rodgers, a member of the White Earth Band of the Chippewas.

does business. Or without a great deal of difficulty the outside players' interests might be arranged in a similar scale—the teams to be given a lump sum according to their positions at the conclusion of the major league competition.

There should be no worry over the possibility of such a world's series schedule crowding out some interest in the minor leagues. As a matter of fact, the major league schedules are too long. Most of the managers favor a schedule of 112 or 114 games. By chopping 14 games off the present playing schedule, the season would be concluded as early as the major league seasons now close.

By W. J. McBeth.

New York, Sept. 15.—Frank Chance has come to the bat with a very odd suggestion relative to world's series competition in future. The scheme is to extend the competition for league pennants as to eliminate the prevailing element of luck. Chance favors a "Under present conditions," says the Peerless Leader, "the best team does not necessarily win the championship of luck is too pronounced. One team that might perhaps outclass its rivals by many games through a schedule of 154 games is simply swamped. Its players have buckled or come shak, or has hit a balling slump that comes to all good teams now and then. A world's series could be won by the weaker club because the other came out of some slump. Now, in 16 games it will even

ENGLISHMEN GAIN ON PHILLIE TEAM

Incognito Club of London Lead in Second Day's Cricket Play.

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—In the second day's play in the cricket match between the Incognito club of London, and the All-Philadelphia 11, the Englishmen were all out in their first innings for 203 runs, and the home players made 167 for seven wickets in their first turn at bat when stumps were drawn for the day. The match will be concluded today.

G. G. Morris and J. L. Evans, who scored 99 runs Friday without the loss of a wicket, did not bat on Saturday. The former went out with a well-played 74 and the latter was caught out for 27. The only other stand made by the home team against the improved bowling of the Englishmen was by W. Morris, who scored 25 before he was clean bowled by Dr. B. Hildfield. The feature of the Englishmen's second innings was the free hitting of H. G. H. Mathallana, who scored 28 runs before he fell a victim to the bowling of W. D. O'Neill. Mathallana continued a well played 35 to the British total.

BAIRD CANADIAN TENNIS CHAMPION

Three Championships Decided on Courts at Toronto Saturday.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—Three Ontario championships were decided at the Toronto tennis club courts Saturday afternoon when Burns and Baird, of Toronto, Miss Mary Browne, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Williams, the Philadelphia star, clashed in the same open singles, the ladies open singles and the championship mixed doubles.

Mrs. Williams and Miss Browne hold the ladies double championship of the United States. Both have won distinction in singles matches as well, Mrs. Williams holding the international title and Miss Browne the United States championship. Baird had no difficulty in taking three straight sets from his opponent in the open singles. The winner of the Canadian championship for 1913 used a speedy return which gave him as much for Burns' kick and each set went by good margin, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3. Miss Browne defeated Mrs. Williams 6-1, 7-5.

In the mixed doubles Miss Browne and Burns defeated Mrs. Williams and Baird 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

WELSH AGREES TO TAKE ON BAYLEY

Will Meet Former Canadian Champion at Victoria This Month.

Victoria, Sept. 15.—Freddie Welsh, British lightweight champion and claimant of a world title, will meet Joe Bayley, the former Canadian champion, here the latter part of the month. They are scheduled to fight 15 rounds.

Welsh was disappointed at the outcome of the affair with Ritchie, as he was confident that he would have come away from the world's lightest champion. He is in excellent condition as a result of his thorough training in his district and he will probably have no trouble in disposing of Bayley.

Welsh's manager is predicting him the network champion, and Ritchie will certainly have to do something to satisfy the fight fans that Welsh, having a right to make some claim on the championship.

Edmonton Again Makes Good Showing at Cricket

Held Australian Team to Score of 211 While They Made 117 Runs—Details of Saturday Game.

Playing a consistent game the Edmonton cricketers again demonstrated Saturday that they are "five ones" by holding the champion Australian team down to 211 runs while they made 117. On the face of it that may appear a rather peculiar statement considering the difference in the score and yet one must bear in mind that the Edmonton players were up against the best there is in cricket; men who play the game all the time.

Hardisty and McMillan made the highest scores for the Edmonton team with 16 each. Hardisty was high for the Australians with 47.

The visitors left Saturday night for Calgary.
